The Spectator Notes

This week's mail brought a communication from Jimmy Hatlo, Carmel's prominent cartoonist, creator of "They'll Do It Every Time" and "Little Iodine." The letterhead is something to behold, a fine colored cartoon of Iodine painting the names of the features on a fence, about to be paddled by father in the traditional, and exposed, area.

Read the letter, turned the page over, and lo and behold, a list of the papers in which the two features appear...very fine print, very full page. Added up, more or less, to 625. (No time, did it by tens.)

Some caught our eye, The Chilliwack Progress, The Ketchikan News (that's the way we gather it, too), and the Punxatawney Spirit.

The features go everywhere, Helsinki, Copenhagen, Wiesbaden, and to many points south of the border. Senorita Iodina Chiquita... Saludos!

Quite a burst of European travels these days. The Eugene Thompsons left on Wednesday for a trip to Europe. The Charles McHarrys will leave in about a month, and the John Stinsons, part time Carmel, part time Monterey people, left last week. Bon Voyage!

Most everyone wondered what Andy Del Monte would do with the $25 infants' clothing certificate he won at the Carmel Hill theater's S.P.C.A. show. Seems Carmel's well known policeman found it no problem... Grandson! Art McEwen, the Spectator's photographer, won a ten dollar woman's shoe certificate. Since his sixth anniversary fell this week, Mrs. McEwen, Mary Lloyd, is sporting new footwear. If the shoe fits...

Previews Inc. has pointed out that our recent Note about the Hart property in Pebble Beach might be a bit confusing. It seems that we did not make it clear that only the travertine walls came from the "slopes of Vesuvius," while the 48 columns were "brought from almost every country of the Ancient World." We are glad to straighten out any confusion on this point.

But the thing that really bothered The Spectator was that any travertine, regardless of where it was used, came from the slopes of the famous volcano. At last report this mountain is still just a bare, brown cone of lava. But we must admit that if the travertine was found anywhere near the area, "the slopes of Vesuvius" is a romantic phrase even though it doesn't exactly pinpoint the mine.

Bob Read, impresario of the Hill Theater, enlivened an otherwise lethargic evening last week with his impersonation of a Russian crooner. Many of the students studying Russian at the Presidio were in the audience and appreciated his rendering of a song made up of idiomatic Russian phrases and and plain doubletalk.

Andy Del Monte again! In answer to the questions which we anticipated and answered last week, again we say Andy is in the police station tending the radio. He was off his familiar three-wheeler for a few weeks due to a minor operation and is now back to work but recuperating at the desk job.

The Carmel council, when it is confronted with a problem with which it does not want to deal personally, often instructs a city employee to carry out the action. This week, Ernest Calley, promoter of the annual Kite Festival, suggested that the council enter a kite in the contest March 22. After a short discussion, Mayor Allen Knight suggested to the other members, "Maybe we should instruct City Attorney Perry to go fly a kite."

Congratulations to Carmel parents Mr. and Mrs. Morley P. Horder and new daughter Hilary; Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Hay and new son Charles, and Mr. and Mrs. Plaridel Macahilig and new daughter Suzanne.

The Village Week..

LOCAL ISSUES IN PRIMARY

Although the April 8 city election seems to be most important in Carmel at the moment, still the important primary election is only two months later. It promises to be an interesting election on the local as well as national level.

Purely local questions include the naming of the judge for the Peninsula Municipal Court, a county supervisor from this district, and the question of whether the supervisors will request the fluoridation of the Peninsula water supply.

Two Carmel citizens are in the race for the new judgeship. George P. Ross, Carmel police judge, and Shelburn Robison, Carmel lawyer. The two will face Kalmen Y. Saperro, Monterey lawyer, and Ray Baugh, present justice court judge.

John J. Redhead, Carmel citizen who practices law in Pacific Grove, has entered the race for supervisor. He will attempt to unseat incumbent Andy Jacobsen, chairman of the supervisors for the past 18 years. David H. Gill, another Pacific Grove lawyer, may enter making it a three-way contest.

The supervisors will probably put the fluoridation question on the ballot, seeking to determine how the entire Peninsula feels about the matter. The question is an advisory one and will not mean automatic fluoridation if the majority approve the measure.

NEW PLANNER NAMED

John Ruster has been named to fill the post on the Carmel Planning Commission left vacant by the refusal of Herbert Heron to accept another term. Ruster was named by the commission and appointed by Mayor Allen Knight with the approval of the council.

BUSINESS ASSOCIATION MEETING MARCH 12

Presiding at the dinner meeting of the Carmel Business Association on March 12 will be newly-elected President Arne Halle. The meeting will be held at the La Playa Hotel, with cocktails being served from 6 p.m. preceding dinner, which will be served at 7:30. Topics for discussion will include the issues in the April 6 elections and members are urged to attend and bring guests if they wish.

CITY COUNCIL QUESTIONED

In answer to questions by Francis Whitaker, the Carmel council explained its position on the ½ cent city sales tax.

The $11,000 item for a city employee pension plan was included in the 1951-52 budget so that if the employees approved such a program the money would be available. The council acknowledged that it did not have authority to spend this money in this way at the present time, but that it has the power to pass an ordinance giving it such authority any time a plan is approved.

Councilman Don Craig said the city is following the procedure set up by law to cover such matters.

Whitaker was also critical of the amendment to the tax which exempts building supplies delivered outside the city in which the seller is located. The council explained that this was done to protect the builders who are bidding against other firms who do not have a sales tax.

Mayor Allen Knight told Whitaker that the decision to exempt building supplies was taken in an open conference after deliberate consideration. He said, "Such a measure (the city sales tax) must necessarily be put in and changed on a trial and error basis. The council went at the problem in a conscientious manner and acted in what it considered to be the best interests of the homeowner."

Whitaker, a candidate for a council seat in the city election, heads the campaign to remove the sales tax. The issue will be voted on by the people in the April (city) balloting.

WILL HAYES HERE 3 DAYS

Will Hayes, Santa Barbara candidate for Congress, will be visiting this area for three days on March 14, 15, and 16. A busy round of politicking is planned for Hayes, among the events a luncheon at the Carmel Valley Inn at noon on next Friday. Miss Irene Baldwin is in charge of arrangements for the event which is open to the public. Luncheon will be $1.25, and Hayes will be available to meet those attending after the luncheon.

Also on Friday is a tea to be held at the home of Mrs. Paul Low on Ridgewood Road. Anyone interested in meeting Hayes is invited to attend between 3 and 5:30. The tea is sponsored by the Carmel Women's Democratic Club.

VETERANS' EXEMPTIONS

Claude S. Estill, County Veterans Service Officer, has joined County Tax Assessor Walter Tavernetti in urging veterans who own property in Monterey County to file early for their $1,000 property tax exemption.

The state constitution, which extends the tax exemption to veterans of all wars--including the Korean emergency--requires applications to be submitted to the tax assessor's office between the first Monday in March and the last Monday in May, the officers pointed out. The filing period this year runs from March 3 through May 26.

It was stressed by both county officials that wives of property owners now in active service may file for the tax exemption on behalf of their husbands. The exemption does not apply however to property assessed at a value of more than $5,000.

VAUGHN SHOEMAKER IN ART DEMONSTRATION

A capacity crowd of over 180 persons attended the demonstration and more than 50 were turned away at the door.

"THIS IS IT" SEQUEL

The group of Carmel young men who put on the highly successful musical "This Is It" last summer, will have another go at it this year. They have reserved the Forest Theater for the Labor Day weekend for their new show "China Clipper." The four involved are Don Adams, Owen Greenan, Mike Monahan, and Ric Masten.

TV FRANCHISE APPROVED

The ordinance granting the Alarm Corporation a franchise to give Carmel television service has been approved. The company will bring the shows into the homes through a coaxial cable instead of through the conventional aerial. The company expects to have the service in operation next month. There will be an initial hook-up charge and a monthly maintenance charge for those wishing the service.

An Editorial

The idea of a coordinating body representing all the Peninsula communities strikes us as a good one. Offered by Mel Huden, chairman of the Seaside Council, such a group would offer to the citizens many advantages not now available.

In spite of the fact that there are three cities and large unincorporated areas on the Peninsula, the people in all these sections have many common problems and aims. The coordinating council, with representatives from all, would tackle these problems, and through united action could bring a great deal of pressure to bear where it's needed.

No prerogatives of the present governing bodies of the area would be usurped. The super-council would act only on matters pertaining to the whole area.

Such things as planning and financing opposition to utility rate increases would be put before the group for action. Such a body would carry more weight in Sacramento and Washington on matters affecting the Peninsula. It would serve to strengthen this locality's position with the board of supervisors as well.

The make-up of such a body would be relatively easy to determine. Harder would be the drafting of rules to cover its activities. A substantial majority vote would be needed before the council could take action to insure that a single community or section of the Peninsula did not dominate its actions and decision.

The Seaside Council has placed the matter before the councils of the three cities requesting consideration of the proposal. It should be given careful thought. Such a super-council could be of great benefit to the entire Peninsula.

THE COUNCIL'S ARGUMENT

The Carmel city council has drafted an argument against the repeal of the city sales tax. The argument will appear on the sample ballot distributed to voters before the election in April.

The argument is as follows:

(In accordance with the provisions of the Election Code the City Council submits the following ARGUMENT AGAINST the Initiative Ordinance to prohibit City Sales or Use Taxes.)

SINCE October 1951 the City of Carmel has collected a sales tax of 1/2 of 1%. The Ordinance was approved after long study and conferences with leading citizens and representatives of Carmel's civic or-

BARN TRY-OUTS

Next Tuesday, March 11, is the tryout date for the Barn Theatre's first play of the 1952 season. Ken Smith has announced that all are welcome. "A genuine interest in any of the many phases of theatre work is all that is required."

Located directly behind the Los Laureles Lodge, 10 miles up Carmel Valley, the Barn Theatre has produced "The Shipping Sisters," "Apple of His Eye," "The Man," and "Skip Thiel" in the past. Tryouts will start promptly at 7:30 on Tuesday.

DRAMA FESTIVAL --

APRIL 20 THRU 27

The full program for the ANTA and Theatre Council for California and Nevada sponsored drama festival has been announced, and includes a week long of lectures, plays, and discussions.

Prominent among those appearing will be Martin Flavin, Dr. Hubert Heffner, San Francisco drama critics, the Hillbert Theatre group, San Jose State College Theatre, Children's Theatre of San Francisco, the Interplayers, the Wharf Theatre, the Reno Little Theatre, and others as yet not announced.

For a week all phases of drama, and of the theatre, will be either discussed or demonstrated.

Tickets in several combinations are available to the public: Ticket A: Full series at special rate of $18.00 includes all events except individual performances in local theatres on the two Sunday evenings -- $15.00 plus tax of $3.00. Full price for single tickets purchased for these events would be $24 if purchased singly. Ticket B: Individual reserved seat for any evening performance, tax included -- $2.40. Ticket C: Individual unreserved seat for any evening performance, tax included -- $1.80. Ticket D: Individual afternoon ticket for all events Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, or Saturday, tax included -- $1.20. Ticket E: Individual ticket for Friday afternoon or Sunday afternoon, tax included -- $2.40. Ticket F: Weekend ticket for all events on Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, tax included -- $9.60. Places and dates of performances will be sent to ticket purchasers well in advance of the Drama Festival.

CHS PLAY NEXT FRIDAY

"Captain Applejack," a pirate adventure play, will be given by the senior of Carmel High School next Friday at Sunset. Actors for the evening are Allene Knight, Janet McPail, Kim McRae, Kurt von Meier, Ann Spurr, Jane Trappe, Chris von Peske, Frank Lanore, Jim Miller, and Gilbert Neill. The play, under the direction of Mrs. Mariquita Brey, is set in Cornwall, in the present.

Jack Hilgers, Said McLean, Eugene MacFarland, Sam Robinson, Gilbert Neill, Jim Miller, Douglas Smith, Mansfield Tourney, and Jim Thompson will be pirates.

Stage manager for the evening is Said McLean; prompter, Betty Jean DeAmaral. Jack Hilgers will be electrician and special effects man. Sets were executed by Babs Balzer and Jannie Aars; properties by Nancy Bacon and Douglas Smith; costumes by Marcia Danely, Janet Huffman, and Paula Roloff. Bob Campbell and Babs Balzer are handling publicity and programs, and Sue McCloud and Peter Hatton are house managers. The stage crew is five strong, consisting of Jim Thompson, Sam Robinson, Douglas Smith, Mansfield Tourney, and Eugene MacFarland.

The curtain will rise on "Captain Applejack" at eight o'clock on the 14th. Admission is one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students and children. Tickets may be obtained from any members of the CHS senior class.

FOLKS FROM THE BIG SUR were not the only ones who wandered to witness one color washed watery scene from Alice in Wonderland, held last Sunday afternoon at Big Sur Grange. More than one group of Carmel residents were glimpsed enjoying the costumed chapter brought to life by a beautiful blonde Alice (Christine Ewoldsen), a gruff Gryphon (Linda Grant), and a moody Mock Turtle (Sammy Trotter), with the help of the other 30 students of Pfeiffer School, costumed as Lobsters and Whittings. Their lines and rhymes were taught them by Eugene Perrine who produced the little playlet as entertainment offered by the Mothers' Club of their school, in their successful effort to raise enough money to purchase a record player for the students. With the abundance of eye-filling home made cakes and cookies, folk dancing, neighborly gossip, tea or coffee poured by the Mad Hatter (Mrs. Morton Grant), all part of the rewards of paying a mere 65¢ at the door, it was no wonder attendance was ample. Kids were let in free... and you can bet there wasn't a cookie crumb left over after their afternoon in Big Sur's Wonderland.

The Carmel PTA will meet at Sunset School Cafeteria next Tuesday, March 11, at 3 p.m. when motion pictures on "The Face of Youth," and "Problem Children" will be shown. Following the pictures, discussions will be held on problems of the very shy and the very aggressive child.

Mrs. Frances Wallace, who has just returned from the California State Recreation Conference in Fresno, will report on her findings from the questionnaire circulated last fall about the summer recreation program and the possibility of a summer day camp will be discussed.

A sitter will be on duty in the Kindergarten Room for children of those attending the meeting.

The League of Women Voters is also sending a Registrar to the meeting for the convenience of those who have not yet registered for the coming elections.

CHS DANCE TONIGHT

A St. Patrick's day dance, sponsored by the Eighth Grade will be held in the CHS cafeteria this evening from 8 to 11.

Even with the higher rates P. G. and E. has had to ask for . . . typical household Gas and electric bills will still be smaller than in 1938!

Since early 1938, P. G. and E. home rates have been cut sharply in five separate years . . . in April 1938, in 1939, 1940, 1943 and 1946! That brought rates way down. They were raised only moderately during the last three years. Now, with continued pressure of rising taxes, wages and equipment costs, we've had to apply to the California Public Utilities Commission for new electric rates—increased rates to provide sufficient earnings to continue to attract the new capital required to meet the service demands of our customers. But even the increase we're asking won't bring your typical gas and electric bill up to what it was for the same use in 1938!

P. G. and E. wage rates are up 114% for weekly and daily employees. In 1938 our taxes were $17 million—last year they were $66 million. Yet our present domestic rates are far below the 1938 level. While rates must be raised, the P. G. and E. bill for a typical home will still be less than in 1938.

Everything else you buy costs more than in 1938. And P. G. and E. pays more for the things it buys, too. A power pole that cost $10 in 1938 now costs $25. A line truck has gone up from $2,124 to $4,834. We can't go on giving good service unless we can adjust our rates to help meet higher costs.

Gas and Electricity will still be cheap in California under the higher rates we've asked for. As a matter of fact, the typical P. G. and E. residential bill for gas and electricity in a California city will still be about 1/3 less than the average of the bills in cities of similar size outside California.

Can you think of anything else you buy that costs less than in 1938? . . . gas and electricity are big bargains!

Council Candidates—

ALLEN KNIGHT, present mayor of Carmel, is seeking his third council term. He has been mayor for the past two years, the prior six having been spent as police commissioner. Although born in San Francisco, Knight spent most of his boyhood in Carmel, his family making their home here part of each year. He moved here permanently in 1928. He formed the Peninsula Properties real estate office in 1943 after serving with the State Naval Guard. He has been a member of the sanitary district board for the past 19 years and past chairman of that body. He is also a member and past president of the Navy League and a member and past officer in both local and state real estate groups. His major hobby is collecting ship lore, and he is shown with one of his models, while his family, Allene, Alys, his wife Adele, and Allen, Jr. look on.

GENE A. RICKETTS is one of the two incumbent councilmen seeking reelection. First elected in 1948, Ricketts is completing his term as street commissioner of the council. Ricketts recently sold his sporting goods store on San Carlos street and is now associated with Huddleson and Meyers plumbing contractors.

He has stated that he is campaigning for the council seat on the basis that he believes the sales tax to be necessary for Carmel. Shown above, Ricketts is worrying over another type of tax, income, while his wife Helen and children Pat and Mike watch the procedure.

The Pollock chow line, six strong, consists of Louise (Mrs. Pollock), Patricia Lynne, Grant, Parker, Barbara, and REED POLLOCK. Born in Beaver, Utah, in 1910, Pollock was married in Carmel in May, 1936, to the former Louise Parker of Pacific Grove. From 1935 until 1950 he was associated with radio station KDON, from whence his voice greeted early risers, and is now an insurance agent. He has lived here for the past four years, on Mission between 1st and 2nd. His hobbies, golf and the building of an addition to his home, take up the rest of his time. He favors: fluoridation of water, and the retention of the sales tax as an alternative to raised property taxes.

Every two years of Carmel elect members to the five council, the governing body. The term is so that there will be experienced members on the council. The members of the council meet the body to serve.

None of the candidates receive any money although expenses for city business are paid. These men meet per month and business of the council.

The council meets and works through an elected official clerk handles the administration of the city by the directives.

Because the council is running the city complex, each member is assigned a certain department of which he is in charge. The four are police, public health, and public works. Each commissioner has a direct link between the city departments and the council.

In addition, the council is also the city planning seven-man body of the council, and to coordinate the actions of the two governing bodies.

In addition to the only two other offices held--the city clerk and treasurer.

The city clerk has with the responsibility of running the city and directing the council are seen to the proper department of the city or the county government offices. He is responsible for keeping the budget that the council annually.

The city treasurer has the actual bank accounts of the city. He keeps books, which involve depositing and withdrawing funds from the city accounts maintained.

This year, the seats and the positions and city treasurer are up for election. Mayor and Councilman are seeking reelection. Mayor Martin is not running, hold-over councilmen Craig and John C. are seeking reelection. The candidates are on these pages.

Also to be filled are the positions of city clerk and city treasurer. Candidates, Clerk Patricia Lynne and Treasurer Harold are seeking reelection unopposed.

-and their families

MRS. WILLIAM ARLEY SMITH, Geraldine, is the sole woman in the race for a council seat. She and her husband and family moved here in 1945 from San Francisco, and Bill is now a partner in Kip's Grocery Store. Her interest in her children has made Mrs. Smith an active member of the Carmel Parent Teacher Association, first as secretary, then vice president, and now president. She is chairman of the Junior Chapter of the Carmel Red Cross and a member of the executive board of the Carmel Red Cross chapter. She is also a member of the League of Women Voters. She is shown above with Susan, Sandra (seated), and Craig (standing by his father).

This isn't an election year gag photograph. HORACE LYON really does wipe dishes for his wife, Edna, when the kids aren't home. Lyon has lived with his family in Carmel since 1937, the Lyon home being on Scenic Drive. A native of Massachusetts, he moved here with his family of four children. Two daughters are married, a third teaches in the music department at Mills College, and his son Peter is presently attending Stanford. For the past six years, Lyon has been associated with the Carmel Realty Company handling insurance. He has also been Carmel representative for the Monterey County Planning Commission for six years and as such has fought for the preservation of the county zoning laws. He is a member of the Carmel Rotary Club. His hobbies are photography and the weekend cabin he and his wife built in the Carmel Valley.

FRANCIS WHITAKER has long been interested in expending a great deal of time and energy for what he considers to be benefits to the public. One of the leaders in the Point Lobos League, this group secured the Point Lobos state park for the public to enjoy. Similarly, he has been one of the driving forces behind the current campaign for public ownership of the beach at the mouth of the Carmel River. Despite the fact that he is a self-styled "blacksmith," Whitaker is a true artist in working metal at his Forge in the Forest. One of his principal interests is skiing, and when his son Steve was in Carmel High School, Whitaker and his wife Elaine would accompany the high school group on its annual ski trip. In the current election, Whitaker has taken a strong stand against the sales tax and headed the movement to put the repeal of the tax on the ballot.

HERRMANN SPEECH AND ARTISTS' GUILD SHOW...

REAR ADMIRAL ERNEST E. HERRMANN was the guest speaker at this month's regular dinner meeting of the Carmel Legion no. 512. Shown with Herrmann are, left, Capt. Henry Gleason, and right, Capt. Archer M. R. Allen. Standing is Jack March Laughlin, post commander.

CLOTHING DRIVE NOW ON IN SCHOOLS

Carmel High School, Sunset and Woods Schools are currently sponsoring a clothing drive to aid needy children everywhere. The drive will welcome contributions of any usable clothing for infants, school age children and adults. Distribution of some items will be made here in Monterey County and some will be sent overseas to needy children in Korea, Austria, France, Germany, Greece, Finland, and Italy.

The drive is under the auspices of the Save the Children Federation and will last through March 14.

REAL ESTATE CLASS

The Real Estate Management Class, currently being sponsored by the University of California Extension Service, will discuss rent control and how it affects real estate management, at the meeting next Monday, March 10. Meetings are from 7 to 9:30 in Room B-3 of the Monterey Peninsula College. Guest speakers at Monday's meeting will be J. A. Grimsley, Area Rent Director, and Karl Frisbie, rent control office attorney.

The course, consisting of 11 Monday evening meetings, will discuss at later meetings, maintenance, redecorating, appraisals, leases, and legal matters affecting property owners. Charge for the complete course is $18.

MUSIC APPRECIATION

PARENTS VISIT WOODS
SCHOOL SHOW

The entire fourth grade of Carmel Woods School took part in a word, action, and picture study of Mexico recently, which parents were invited to attend. A young couple from Mexico City who were in the audience showed the children some native games and instructed them in a dance known as La Raspa.

BIOLOGY LECTURE TUESDAY

Dr. George Wald, professor of Biology at Harvard College will speak at the Navy School on Tuesday on "The Molecular Basis of Vision." The structure of the eye and its reaction to light through pigment will be discussed.

The public is invited to attend the lecture in the main auditorium of the school, at 8 p.m. It is under the joint sponsorship of the U.S. Naval School Club of Sigma Xi and the staff of the Hopkins Marine Station.

UPLAND GAME LECTURE

Wallace Macgregor of the California Division of Fish and Game will speak at Sunset on Tuesday evening at eight on the problems of Upland Game Management. He will make special reference to the conservation and increasing of valley quail, the subjects of an extensive program in the Department of Fish and Game.

A film will illustrate Macgregor's talk, which is open to the public and free. The program is under the joint sponsorship of the local Sportsman's Club and the Carmel Adult School.

NEW MONTEREY ADULT
SCHOOL COURSE

A course in personal arts for women will begin next Monday, March 10, at Monterey Adult School. The class will meet from 7 to 10 p.m. in Room L-10 of Monterey Peninsula College.

The course will consist of eight meetings and will be under the direction of Gloria Akin, a graduate of Barbara Holden's modeling school. There is no charge for the classes.

Subjects to be included are wardrobe selection, posture and grace, make-up, conditioning exercises, and everyday social psychology.

DINNER FOR CARMEL
BASKETBALL PLAYERS

Jack Giles and Ben Updike last evening hosted a dinner for the ten members of the CHS Basketball team who played in last week's tournament here, placing second in the event.

Guests were Lanny Doolittle, Craig Moore, Myron Bronson, Bob Updike, Henry Overin, Art Schurman, Ronie Wolverton, Jerry Coleman, Don Morehead, and Ray March.

Bonnie Giles and Mrs. Updike, as well as Mr. and Mrs. George Mosolf, also attended.

VISTA PATH DECISION

Children walking to the Woods School from the west will now have a footpath along the entire length of Vista avenue. The section of the path on the north side of Vista between Mission and San Carlos has been left undone, although the path on both sides of this block were completed.

The council agreed to finish the work after the case was presented by Peter Ferrante speaking for the Woods School parents' safety committee.

ST. PATRICK'S PARTY

On March 15 a St. Patrick's Day party is planned by Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Catholic Church. It will be held at Holman's Guest Ranch and is to begin at 8 p.m. Door prizes will be given, among them a thoroughbred heifer. The public is invited to attend.

Grandmother to Mollie, Sing, Peter, Julie, and Michael is, perhaps, the first of Harriet Weill's titles. Mother of Nancy Weill Costello and Jeane Weill might come next, and third, perhaps, would be Curator of Pebble Beach Art Galleries. Mrs. Stuart Weill is, in addition, that rarest of species—a native Montereyan. She was born on the San Carlos Ranch, one of two children of the Wade Sargents who were themselves native Peninsulites.

The ranch was a happy life and one which Mrs. Weill claims imparted her "only" talents... "milking a cow, riding a horse, and not being afraid of rattlesnakes."

Educated in Monterey, a series of natural progressions led to her teaching school there (the first or the fifth grades... or something, she says), and then to marriage and the advent of Jeane and Nancy. The two daughters were hobby, occupation, and recreation all in two, until a few years ago, when Mrs. Weill became involved in (of all things, she says) interior decoration. After many years thus busied in Monterey's Stevenson House, last year she was asked to take over the galleries as curator, and jumped to the opportunity, one which seems tailor-made to her vivacity, interest in beautiful things, and keen sympathy for people.

Her duties are numerous, and hard to categorize, running the gamut from hanging paintings and displaying crafts, to the actual selling of the products, and the arrangements of portrait commissions.

A profit-sharing enterprise, the Gallery handles the pictures which are chosen from among the membership of the Carmel Work Center-Pebble Beach group by a board of judges. Once selected they are turned over to Mrs. Weill and her assistant, Ann Borden, for handling thru the Pebble Beach outlet.

With the aplomb of a general and the warmth of a house-mother, Mrs. Weill acts as a counselor, conveyor of messages, and diplomat extraordinaire to the artists and craftsmen who compose the group for which she works. She bids the travelling members farewell, the returning ones welcome, knows just who is doing what, and where an interested purchaser might find the painting he wants.

An animated person, Mrs. Weill might be described in the jargon of the ranch life she loves, as wound tight, in that she is never to be found other than busy. Fifteen minutes at the gallery find her doing fifteen things: either talking with customers, arranging for shows, or hunting for "something green" to put in a display.

Evenings find her either with the Jimmy Costello progeny, or Jeane (who, incidentally, is a talented silversmith).

To her modest claims to talent, Harriet Weill should probably add the easy flexibility and diplomatic talent that make her an eminently satisfactory grandparent and arbiter of the arts.

carmel library notes

Three new books of interest to theater lovers will go into circulation next Monday. The musical play, "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" by Betty Smith and George Abbott, enjoyed a very successful run in New York and it is now available in book form. A current success on the New York stage is "Stalag 17" by Donald Bevan and Edmund Trzcinska, a comedy-drama set in a German prisoner of war camp during World War II. The playwright hailed as the great hope of the modern theater, Christopher Fry, receives an appreciation at the hands of Derek Stanford. Stanford, who has known Fry since their school days together, analyzes his contribution to the theater and to poetry and language.

The eminent sculptor, Jo Davidson, whose recent passing deprived America of one of her greatest artistic talents, completed an informal autobiography before his death. In "Between Sittings" he reminisces in his highly original and witty manner about the many famous and interesting people who sat for him. Charlie Chaplin, John D. Rockefeller, Gertrude Stein, and many others are revealed in the light of his keen observations. The book is illustrated with 64 photographs, mostly of Davidson's superb sculptures.

Walter D. Edmonds in his new book, "They Fought With What They Had," tells the story of our Air Force in the Philippines in 1941-42. The author had access to most of the official records of the air force and his carefully documented study of our tragic unpreparedness should interest every citizen. A portion of this book, dealing with the attack on Pearl Harbor, appeared in the Atlantic Monthly sometime ago. Mr. Edmonds, whose reputation was built as a writer of historical fiction, has not neglected the personal side of his story and his book is far from a dry recital of facts and figures. Individual stories of heroism and sacrifice form an integral part of his book and serve to make more immediate and compelling this sad chapter in our history.

Ralph Moody, whose first book was the highly successful "Little Britches," has continued his stories of his childhood in "Man of the Family." Set in Colorado in 1910, it tells of the efforts of himself and his sister Grace to hold together their fatherless family.

Anthropologist Carleton S. Coon in his new book "Caravan" has traced the story of the Middle East from earliest times to the present. He deals with the evolution of language, religion, social customs, etc. in an effort to make the peoples of this area more easily understood today.

The trials and tribulations encountered in running a country weekly newspaper are told by Jane S. McIlvaine in "It Happens Every Thursday." Mrs. McIlvaine and her husband took over the Downingtown, Pa. "Archive" when it was all but defunct and built it into a successful paper.

The writer-artist team of Florence Page Jaques and Francis Jaques in their new book, "As Far as the Yukon," tell of their journey from New York to the Yukon, by way of Texas. These two naturalists, whose books have been awarded the John Burroughs' medal, recall, with insight and humor, the people and places they encountered.

The spiritual writings of an eminent Quaker have been collected by his ardent admirer, Harry Emerson Fosdick, in "Rufus Jones Speaks to Our Time." Rufus Jones, who is Professor of Philosophy at Haverford College and a minister of the Society of Friends, has lectured and written extensively, and Dr. Fosdick believes his philosophy and beliefs of great value in these confused times.

The prospect of life on another planet seems to appeal to a wider audience all the time and the trend is augmented this week in "The Outer Reach-

They Do "Give A Hoot" For Easy

Easy Roberts finally got rid of the noisy pigeons that used to whoop it up under his eaves.

He must have tried a dozen ways to scare them off. But no matter what he did, they would be right back cooing by his window the next morning.

Then Easy thought of an old stuffed owl he had in his attic. He propped it on the roof so's all the pigeons could see it. They left... and three hoot owls have taken their place. Easy swears the hooting is even worse than the cooing of the pigeons.

From where I sit, quite often a "bright idea" will turn out to be "not so bright" after all. That's why we should never be too cocksure of our ideas and opinions—but always try to keep an open mind. I believe a refreshing glass of beer is the best thirst-quencher—you may believe differently. But who's to say one's right and the other is wrong? Let's just practice tolerance. It'll save a lot of hootin' and hollerin'.

ganizations. The purpose of the tax is to lighten the tax load on the citizens and home owners of Carmel and place some of the burden on those outsiders who are partially responsible for the deterioration of our roads, added burden on our police department, and increased threat of fire. The amount confidently expected to be raised by this sales tax is $36,000, of which 5/6ths is estimated to be paid by outsiders.

The local consumer is scarcely touched, for the tax does not apply to food, rent, water, gas, electricity, gasoline, doctors' bills, etc., but does apply to gift goods, restaurant meals, and bar service. Over 60% of the people of California now pay a city sales tax.

The sales tax will provide needed city revenue which would otherwise necessitate increasing your present property tax rate by 33¢. Of the two alternatives facing the council, raising the property tax or levying a sales tax, the latter seemed to the members to be the most fair to the citizens of Carmel.

The present city budget is as economical as the council could possibly prepare with safety, and has stood up under detailed examination by citizen groups. As 70 per cent of the budget goes for employee pay, it could not have been cut without impairing regular city services. The city council has rigorously followed a complete budget control system for several years, effecting every economy possible.

Don't be tricked! Every vote to remove the sales tax is a vote to raise property taxes! VOTE NO ON MEASURE A!

GARDENING FOR HEALTH AND HAPPINESS

By Charles W. Delaney

"Space," said a famous astronomer, "is interesting precisely because it is not empty."

Life is like that. Though there are empty spaces, that mean nothing in every day life, life derives its meaning not from these, but from the real things that are found in the emptiness.

Sometimes the precious things that fill our lives are taken away. Death of a loved one creates that vacuum for us all, a loss of faith, the futility of life, and a distrust of the existence of a God. No one can long endure that prospect without damage to his soul. If life is to have full meaning, we must fill the empty spaces with wider interests and newer hopes and worthwhile endeavors.

Planting a garden is one method of filling this empty space. You can feel the healing of mind, body, and soul--in the contact with nature and working with the fundamentals of life. You will absorb new knowledge of life's meaning, new courage to face the problems of this changing world, with greater strength and restored faith in a beneficent God "from whence cometh our strength." The lavish abundance of beauty He has given us to enjoy, and the ingenuity of man, which He directs, may be turned to the development of more gorgeous flowers from the wild flowers nature has given us. Man has hybridized the lowly wild flowers into things of beauty and splendor, and they are made available to us with small effort and very small expense.

TIMELY HINTS

Fuschias in hanging baskets should be re-potted now, using one-third each good sandy loam, leaf-mold, and well rotted cow manure. Then add some peat-moss and a tablespoonful of bone-meal. Put three or four plants in each basket, cut back stems to six eyes, and trim back the roots about one-third. Keep them watered and hang in semi-shade.

GLADIOLUS may be planted now. Buy only large bulbs for large flowers; plant them eight inches deep after dusting the bulbs, and hole with lindane or D.D.T. This destroys wire worm and thrips. Fertilize with bone-meal and later, as the leaves appear, work in some barnyard fertilizer.

TIGRIDEA (shell-flower)-Plant bulbs six inches deep and six inches apart in groups. Cover with leaf-mold and bone-meal; some manure may be added after the bulbs are covered with dirt. This is a very showy flower and it is a free bloomer.

ASTILBE - a plume flowering spirea. This perennial has a plume flower waving above the finely cut leaves. Very decorative, the flower plumes are available in white, pink, peach-blossom, and red. They like partial shade and a moist soil.

MARCONI DAISY - This beautiful double ruffled white flower is often thought to be a chrysanthemum. It likes a fairly fertile soil which must be kept moist. The plant should be staked because the flower heads are heavy for the stems.

PAINTED DAISY - The pyrethrum is a good flower for cutting; it comes in semi-double and single flowers in a wide variety of colors. It grows and multiplies and for that reason should be dug up and divided every three years.

DAHLIA - The tubers may be placed in damp sand until the sprouts begin to shoot. If more than three sprouts form, the others may be pinched off in order to make a strong bush and better flowers. In planting the tubers, lay them on the side with the eye pointing upward. The plant is a fast grower and requires a 3 or 4 foot stake for support. It needs some fertilizer after growth has appeared above ground; then water freely. It is very easy to grow.

Do not bother to grow Zinnias, Verbenas, Portulaca, Hybiscus, and Oleanders; all require hot weather and they do not thrive in a foggy belt.

Next week I shall describe a very simple method of growing plants from seed.

SCAVENGER HUNT TO FINANCE SKI LODGE

A scavenger hunt, at an entry fee of $1, is planned by the Carmel Ski Club for March 21. The proceeds of the search will go toward building a Carmel Ski Club Lodge at Dodge Ridge. The lodge would be built on property leased for 99 years from the government and is within five hours of the Peninsula.

First prize in the scavenger hunt will be a six place setting of sterling silver. The hunt begins at 8:30 p.m. and has a deadline of 1:30 a.m. Headquarters are to be the Mission Ranch Barn, Carmel.

FOUR WAY SHOOT

A week from Sunday there will be a four way shoot held at the Pebble Beach Gun Club. Shooting will get under way at 10 a.m. at the club, between the Naval Air Station, the General Line School, and a group flying over from Castle Air Force base near Merced.

SALINAS RODEO IN JUNE

Rodeo enthusiasts take note! The big Salinas Rodeo is scheduled this year for June 19-22. The oldest (and self-styled "most famous") rodeo in the state promises to attract some 250 of the nation's top contestants.

These cowboys are attracted to the Salinas show because of the lettuce--in this case some $45,000 in prize money. Such liberal prizes insure a field to the very best rodeo performers.

The Salinas Rodeo was first staged in 1909 and this year's will be the 36th held. The 1952 edition will feature such interesting events as camel and ostrich races. These of course will be in addition to the usual trick and fancy riders and ropers.

Sports..

11 COUNTY ENTRANTS IN JR. GRAND NATIONAL

Eleven Monterey County junior horsemen have entered various riding events in the Grand National Junior Livestock Exposition to be held in the Cow Palace, San Francisco, from April 5 to 10.

The eleven, all from Salinas, are Walter Del Conte, Anita Garcia, Dick Gillott, Alice Lacey, David Leach, Joyce Martins, Larry Roberts, Pat Settrini, Warren Wayland, Bill Wiebe, and Marvin Roberts.

Grow Flowers Like THESE!

Gorgeous asters, colorful zinnias, glowing mums, fragrant sweet peas and snaps—you can have them this year! Just plant our guaranteed seeds—and for real assurance—use our selected fertilizers made to order for your soil.
